Brooklyn District-Attorney Declares He Will Force Them to Take Action.

said to-day that he would compel the years old, of No. M2 Court street, and officers of the Mechanics' Bank, at Sweeney spent the night with him. No. 1865 Broadway; Brooklyn, to testify is the police Court against the two had left the house. Mrs. Campbell men and one woman, all Italians, who missed her six diamond rings, valued

Sweeney didn't seem to be overlooking the miscreants and aid the District-Atearrying concealed weapons. They will be examined next week, when the charge will be raised to attempted rob-

The apparent indifference of the bank officials as to what is done with the two men, both of whom are held, cannot be understood, unless it is that they fear avengers. It is believed these officials all of whom are Americans and Americans and Americans of Black Hand outrages committed, especially on those who prosecute a member of the society, and for that reason prefer to have the men go free to placing their swn lives and property in danger.

The officers of the bank are all of the highest reputations. They include Charles G. Bennett, secretary to the United States Senate; Edwin A. Kohl.

Charles G. Bennett, secretary to the United States Senate; Edwin A. Kohl, the teller, and George Blages, bookkeeper, who were in the bank when the Italian appeared with a bank book belonging to William Nelmann, secretary of the H. C. Bohack Grocery Company.

Prepared for Murder. There is no doubt in the minds of the plice that the Italians were ready for hunch, and so got police to the scene.

The policemen searched the prisoners and found a loaded revolver in the necket of the man who had demanded the money. A razor was found in another pecket.

In the pockets of the other man were found a new hammerless revolver and a spring dirk, with a blade five inches long.

The prisoners were taken to the Italph Avenue Station, where they gave their names as Angele Furmani, twenty-nine; Rosani Ponzeilo, twenty-two, and Marqueritz Desano, nineteen. All gave the same address, No. 35. Park avenue, which is a lodging-house.

Bank Books on Prisoner.

In Furmani's pockets were found three bank books representing deposits of raore than $900 in Pennsylvania banks. The largest deposit is in the First National Bank of Uniontown, Pa., the first deposit having been made in 1904. He also had a check book with several checks gone and two gold watches and a silver watch.

Rosani Ponzelo had a bank-book ghowing a deposit of $190 in the Union town Bank, made on June 1 last, and a deposit of $200 in June 1 last, and a deposit of $200 in June 1 last, and a bank book showing a deposit of $250 in a Pennsylvania bank, which she said belonged to her aunt.

All three said they came here from Grindstone, Pa., a week ago and went to board in the Park avenue place Ponzelo said he found Mr. Nelmannis bank-book in his coat pocket and had no idea how it came there.

The prisoners were taken to the New Jersey Avenue Court, but the officer of the bank were so greatly perturbed over the affair and apparently so fearful or reprisal at the hands of friends of the nrisoners that they refused to make a complaint. The males charged the men with carrying concealed weapons, and they were held in $5,000 ball each.

The woman, against whom a charge of vagrancy had been made, was discharged, her bank deposit being evidence that she is not a vagrant. She will be kept under surveillance, however.

ever.

It is believed by the police that the prisoners, having read the accounts of the inability of the police to cope with the crime wave, came here from Ponnian to the carry out their plot.

New Potatoes, basket, 12c

At All the James Butler Stores. This week we make a big cut in the price of new potatoes. They are the finest grown, specially selected from the best fields of Eastern Virginia by our expert shippers, who are following the crop North. These shipments are ripened to perfection, uniform in size, and cannot be improved in quality. Remember, we sell 7 pounds to every basket, and not 4 or 5 pounds, as so many small dealers do—hoping thus to make you
